

THE TIMES APOLOGISES TO THE MASJID-E-UMER, QUEENS ROAD MOSQUE, LONDON

*In an article published last year entitled
"Mosque that has 20 Year history of radical activity"*

The times falsely alleged that the Queens Road Mosque Was controlled by Ultra-orthodox Tablighi Jamaat and as a consequence its worshippers were easy pray for the terrorist recruiters and extrimists.

In a statement published in the Times 11th August 2010. The newspaper accepted that the mosque is not in fact controlled by Tablighi Jamaat and apologised to the Mosque.

The Damage caused by these allegation has been serious indeed, but we are glad that this matter has now been concluded, with the Times agreeing to pay damages and Costs.

*The Trustees & the Imam of the Mosque greatly appreciates the support From the community.
If you need more information please contact me Or Iqbal Mehtar on 07977212591*

*Sukhran
Musaji Hariff*

The Workout

No 793

	4			3
4		4	4
	3
		4		4
	4		2
4	3
		6

© Puzzler Media

Cell Blocks Divide the grid into blocks. Each block must be square or rectangular and must contain the number of cells indicated by the number inside it.

Solution and more puzzles
MindGames supplement

Queen's Road Mosque

An article last year ("Mosque that has a 20-year history of radical activity", September 9) stated that the Queen's Road Mosque in Walthamstow, east London, was controlled by the ultra-orthodox Tablighi Jamaat and as a consequence its worshippers were easy prey for terrorist recruiters and extremists. We have been informed by the current chairman and treasurer of the mosque, and we accept, that the mosque is not controlled by Tablighi Jamaat. We apologise for this error. They have also asked us to point out that the trustees do not allow discussion within the mosque of jihad, the replacement of the current political system or the introduction of Sharia here, and go to great lengths to ensure that the mosque engages with the local police and does all it can to promote community cohesion.